Stratton Bears Down Harder on Highway Safety

Names Co-Ordinator; Also Says Favors Free State Fair Gate

By JIM KLOCKENKEMPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD (UPI) — Gov. William G. Stratton Wednesday said an administration campaign for highway safety may include use of speed-check radar, special patrols and unmarked cars.

The governor also disclosed he favors a free gate at the 1956 state fair and has doubts about continuing the fair's motorcycle races.

Stratton held a news conference and most of his remarks concerned highway safety and problems of the state fair, which ended Sunday.

He announced appointment of Maj. Robert A. Campbell, Peoria, to the new $8,000 a year post of coordinator of the new state Division of Traffic Safety, effective Sept. 1.

Stratton said he is "trying to bear down a little harder on highway safety" but may call a special session of the Legislature to pass a speed limit law if the safety campaign fails.

He said he has already discussed use of radar and of assignment of special patrols, manned by specially trained state policemen, to roads with high accident rates.

Favors No Charge

He said other measures might include posting of roads for speed limits, use of unmarked patrol cars, and further engineering improvements to remove danger spots on the highways.

Stratton said highway building plans call for bypasses around most large downstate cities and he spoke of eventual expanding of U. S. 150- Ill. 10 between Champaign and Danville to four lanes.

The governor was asked about State Fair Manager Strother G. Jones' statement that he is "fed up" with demands of politicians and others for free passes and entertainment tickets.

"As to the admission charge to the grounds, I've thought for some time that the best solution would be no charge at all," Stratton said.

He said the admission charge actually was a small part of state fair revenue and this could be made up from added revenue from concessions and entertainment.

On the question of state purchases of tickets for office holders or the demands for free entertainment events tickets by politicians, Stratton said:

Fair Board to Meet

"This can be abused and it is being abused if certainly will be cut out."

He said the State Fair Board will meet soon and take up these matters. Other problems facing the board, Stratton said, included whether to continue to hold the motorcycle races in view of the near-riot in downtown Springfield the night before the races this year, and on what basis to continue the political days at the fair.

He said bootlegging of beer into the "dry" fairgrounds had been "pretty bad" this year and anyone doing it next year would be thrown off the grounds.

Mrs. Bessie Edwards and her 16-year-old son, Joe, heard a whimper and discovered Gail in a strawberry patch.

CHICAGO (UPI) — Basil (the Owl) Banghart, once known as "the toughest criminal in the United States," has lost a bid to win release from a 99-year kidnapping sentence.

Banghart, a member of the Roger Touhy gang which allegedly kidnapped Jake Factor in 1933, filed a petition maintaining that the state lost custody of him Jan. 7, 1943, when federal authorities took him from the Cook County at Chicago jail to Alcatraz for mail robbery.

Chief Justice Richard B. Austin of Criminal Court rejected the petition Wednesday.

Plaintiff Alleges Error in Deeds Which Transferred Property

Ben H. Roberson and his wife, Shelia Roberson, through their attorneys, Scerl Thompson of Harrisburg and the firm of Dick and Dick, have filed a suit in Saline County Circuit court alleging an error was made in deeds transferring property several years ago.

The property was sold to Guy M. Roberson and wife, Susie E. Roberson, and they, along with their daughters and the Breuer-Robison Oil Company and the Sohio Pipe Line Co., are defendants.

The complaint contends that two tracts of land were sold in October, 1940, and that the sale was not to include the oil rights. However, when the deeds were made, it is said, an error was made to include the oil rights.

He will be prosecuted in Carmi for the break-in there and is also wanted in Texas. He probably will not be tried for the Eldorado break-in, it was revealed, as these other places have first call.

She Came to U. S. on Visit, But Syrian Girl to Go to SIU; Is at Humm Home Here

By VENITA GILLEY
Daily Register Staff Writer

A house guest at the home of Miss Mary Ann Humm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Humm, is Maha Han Kan, a charming 19-year-old native of Damascus, Syria.

Miss Han Kan came to America on May 20 of this year with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Menhall of Benton, on a three-month visa, but after some persuasion decided to stay this winter to attend Southern Illinois University in Carbondale. She and Miss Humm will be roommates in Woody Hall.

Maha's decision to stay in the United States and attend college was determined by the subjects offered here. In Syria, she stated, women are employed only in offices, and in school must study to become lawyers, doctors or teachers. She was studying to become a lawyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Menhall have now returned to Syria where he has oil concessions and Miss Han Kan is staying at the Humm home temporarily.

Grandfather Exiled King

Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Salih Alldun Han Kan and her grandfather is Abed Al Kader Aljezavury, exiled king from Jeza (Morocco). Her father is a colonel in the Air Force.

The homes in Syria are built of white stone with tile floors and are constructed like apartment houses with one family to a floor. They are furnished with very expensive mosaic furniture. A good servant can be had for $2 a week. The Syrians all have two houses, a summer house in the mountains and a winter house in the city.

The women of Syria do not ordinarily buy ready-made clothes but buy the material and take it to a dress maker. They wear cottons

Admits Broke In Eldorado Store

Man Held at Carmi Confesses Entering Kroger Store Aug. 7

Doyle Wayne Tompkins, 29, native of Texas, has confessed to the break-in of the Kroger store at Eldorado Saturday night, Aug. 7. Sheriff William Barrett reported Wednesday.

Tompkins was arrested at Carmi recently when it was reported to Carmi and White county authorities that someone had entered the Western Auto Supply store there. He was arrested in the Carmi store, with burglar tools in his possession, Barrett reported.

When questioned regarding the Kroger entry, he confessed, Sheriff Barrett has announced.

He stated Tompkins said he walked by the front of the store Saturday afternoon and spotted the safe, which is located near the front of the store. After carefully looking over the situation, he then went to a movie in Eldorado and after dark started his operations.

By climbing on a large tank at the side of the Caraway store, he then sealed a barred window and climbed to the roof of the Caraway building, then walked across the roof to the top of the Kroger building. He made entry by cutting a hole in the roof and letting himself into the store.

He was chipping away at the concrete base of the safe when the noise attracted a night taxi driver across the street. Realizing he had been heard, Tompkins left without taking anything.

Sheriff Barrett said Tompkins told him and deputies he planned to carry the safe out of the store, take an automobile, get a torch and burn the safe open after hauling it out in the country.

He will be prosecuted in Carmi for the break-in there and is also wanted in Texas. He probably will not be tried for the Eldorado break-in, it was revealed, as these other places have first call.

To Mail ASC Committeeman Ballots for Election by Sept. 9

Paul B. Whitlock, chairman, Saline County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, announced today that all ballots listing candidates for the community ASC committee positions will be mailed to all eligible voters by September 9, 1955.

Ballots will be mailed to the polling place at 112 East Locust street, Harrisburg, must be mailed in time to be postmarked not later than September 16. Ballots returned to the county office in person must be returned by September 16, 1955. Ballots received after September 16 will not be counted.

"If any farmer who believes he is eligible to vote did not receive a ballot through the mail, he may obtain one by calling or writing to the county office and establish his eligibility to vote in the elections," Mr. Whitlock stated.

Mr. Whitlock cautioned all farmers to follow instructions in the letter on the reverse side of the ballot. The ballot when marked must be placed in the small blank envelope.

Reports Say Airman Killer was to Appear At Court Martial

BROADSTAIRS, England (UPI) — Airman Napoleon Green ran amok and shot up a U. S. airbase just four hours before he was to appear before a court martial on suspicion of stealing and slashing an English girl, it was reported today.

The 21-year-old supply clerk went on a two-hour rampage Wednesday, killing three persons and wounding nine others. He fired two fatal bullets into his body after he was pursued and trapped on a crowded Kent coast beach.

Sources at the Manston Air Base said Green of Chicago, was scheduled for a hearing at 1 p. m. on suspicion of stealing $120 from the wallet of another soldier and of a throat-slashing attack on a British girl, Norma Crosbie, 19.

But his commanding officer said Green was a "good soldier" who jumped his trolley.

"What imagined hurt or grievance this crazy boy had I do not know," said Col. Hugh Mansfield, 45, of Georgia. Mansfield led the posse of American military police that ran Green down.

Reports circulated at the airbase that Green told his barracks mates the night before he ran wild, "be out of here by ten in the morning or else." Another said he left a note saying "I will die today" and signed it "Napoleon Green, airman 2nd class, U. S. Air Force."

Asked if it was a second hearing, Schmidt replied that "it is a first honeymoon." Schmidt interjected that "the whole thing has been turned over to Mr. Welch to handle."

Asked who initiated the reconciliation meeting in Portland, Schmidt said it was his idea originally. He said he telephoned his wife and asked her to come to Portland. Una quickly added that she "was all for it" when Schmidt suggested the meeting.

PORLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Airman Daniel C. Schmidt and his wife, Una, were back together again today in a honeymoon hideaway.

Una, who said she married another man in the belief Schmidt had died in Red China, fled to Portland from California Wednesday night for a reconciliation with the 23-year-old airman.

A spokesman for the Cutter Laboratories issued a statement saying that the Public Health Service had issued a "thorough, scientific and courageous report, affirming our faith that no negligence or incompetence was found at Cutter Laboratories."

The statement said that while the firm naturally was relieved that possible vaccination accidents "cannot be attributed to carelessness on our part, this cannot remove our continuing deep concern for those who have been affected."

Pocahontas, Southern Coal Group, Accepts Union Wage Demand

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Pocahontas Operators Assn., one of the largest southern soft coal producers groups, has accepted John L. Lewis' $2-a-day wage demand for his United Mine Workers.

This was the first major southern coal group to go along with the $2 agreement signed by Lewis last week with northern soft coal mine owners. Other southern operators are expected to fall quickly into line.

Pocahontas members normally produce about 18,000,000 tons of coal a year and employ 10,000 to 12,000 men. This is a major segment of the southern soft coal industry that produces 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 tons of soft coal a year and employs about 80,000 miners.

in the morning and a more expensive material such as silk in the afternoon. Make-up is worn only on special occasions.

Maha stated that Syrian boys, at the age of 20, begin saving money to purchase a bride and a house and furnishings, and when he becomes 25 he will ask a father for the hand of his daughter. If the father consents the young girl will go with the young man and if she cares for him will marry him. A man will not ask for a bride unless he has at least $1,000 to pay for her and a woman can not get married in Syria without the consent of her father regardless of her age.

Maha's religion is Moslem. Her belief demands that she must pray five times a day and fast one month a year which is Ramedan or May.

Miss Han Kan was surprised to read in our papers the number of murders committed each day because, she said, only one murder is committed in Syria in an average of ten years, and when one is committed it is for a "good reason," she said, such as seeking revenge for the death of a loved one. After the last murder committed the murderer was hung in the center of the city to serve as a warning.

The Syrians have the same fruits and vegetables as we do but they are all prepared differently. Corn is fed only to chickens. She ate her first marshmallow and the first piece of pie recently at the Hume home.

Maha plans to go to Southern Illinois for four years and return to her home in the summer. When she returns home next summer to visit with her parents she will be accompanied by Miss Humm.

State Politics For 1956 Race Getting Warm

Hoffman Announces
For GOP Treasurer;
Await Dirksen Bid

By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO (UPI)—The political pot was coming to a simmer in Illinois today almost eight months before the primary election.

Three Republicans already have announced for office in 1956, and others are getting set to leap into the fray.

Latest to disclose his 1956 intentions was Elmer J. Hoffman, 56, Wheaton, who told an outing near Lisle Wednesday that he'll seek the GOP nomination for state treasurer, an office he held in 1952-54.

Daily in Again

Hoffman's announcement followed by a week the statement by Orville E. Hodge in Springfield that he will seek renomination as state auditor in the Republican primary next April.

The third announced GOP hopeful is Chicago chairwoman Lar Daly, a perennial also-ran who said he will challenge Gov. William G. Stratton in the party primary.

Stratton, U. S. Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, and other Republicans holding statewide office haven't formally revealed their plans, but it is regarded only as a matter of timing.

Dinner for Dirksen

A $100-a-plate testimonial dinner will be given for Dirksen here Sept. 22. Sponsors expect him to declare for a second six-year Senate term to a crowd of 2,000 on that occasion.

Stratton, Lt. Gov. John W. Chapman, Atty. Gen. Latham Castle, and Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter are expected to come through with their announcements in the following weeks.

Warren E. Wright, prohibited by the constitution from running for a second straight term as state treasurer, is a question mark.

Wright has been making sounds like he may try to unseat Carpenter in the primary and run for secretary of state. Another possibility is that he'd take an appointive job, then try again for treasurer in 1958, when he decides not to seek the presidential nomination.

Postoffice Safe Driving Conscious

The Harrisburg post office's parcel post truck is one of 84,000 trucks in the Post Office department that is carrying a "hurry bug" poster designed by Walt Disney, to focus attention on safe driving.

Postmaster A. M. Hetherington said that in the Slow Down and Live Safe campaign under way, drivers employed by the Post Office department are being given traffic safety lessons.

In January, he pointed out, Postmaster General Summerfield enrolled all postal drivers in the National Safety Council's Safe Driver Award program, with drivers in competition, on the same basis as thousands of commercial fleet drivers, for the prized Safe Driver Awards.

East postal region has a safety officer who spearheads the training program, furnishes the post offices with motor sensory testing devices, and with safety pamphlets and posters.

Nearly Certain Man Found in Auto Trunk Committed Suicide

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (UPI)—Bal-

listics tests today strengthened the theory that the death of a Wood River, Ill., man, whose body was found in his car trunk, was a suicide.

The dead man was Donald Stormer, 24, whose body was discovered Tuesday in his partially closed car trunk on a lonely road in the western part of Madison county near here.

The dead man was Donald Stormer, 24, whose body was discovered Tuesday in his partially closed car trunk on a lonely road in the western part of Madison county near here.

On the Democratic front, things have been relatively quiet so far.

The main Democratic problem is finding a candidate to run against Dirksen, who will head the Illinois GOP ticket if he runs in 1956.

Traditionally, the senatorial nomination this year should go to a downstater. Former Sen. Scott W. Lucas of Havana, who lost to Dirksen in 1950, is one possibility.

Others mentioned have been state legislators: Richard Stengel of Rock Island, James W. Gray of East St. Louis, and Paul Powell of Vienna; and former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson—if he decides not to seek the presidential nomination.

Report Reds Agitated Tribesmen

CASABLANCA, Morocco (UPI)—

French troops attacked rebellious Berber tribesmen in the badlands of central Morocco while government officials studied reports of "intense Communist agitation" preceding the week-end uprisings.

At the same time persistent reports from Rabat claimed Resident Gen. Gilbert Grandval had offered his resignation because of French opposition to his liberal polices. French circles feared his departure might spark a new wave of violence.

Military sources announced 225

Moroccans were killed in the past four days of the French counteroffensive against four Berber tribes who rose against French rule and slaughtered 77 Frenchmen in the middle Atlas mountains.

Investigators for the Surete Nationale, the French national police, announced they had found evidence of Communist activity when they

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

Arcaro Believes Swaps Must Be Super Horse to Win from Nashua

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y.—(NEA)—Eddie Arcaro didn't have to be reminded that California trainers are unanimous in picking Swaps to beat the Nashua he will ride in the tremendous match race at Washington Park in Chicago, Aug. 31.

Nor did Arcaro, generally considered the greatest rider of his time, seem surprised when told that Willie Molter and Allen Drumheller, the foremost western handlers, expected to see Swaps steal the race with a sizzling first quarter.

"When you mention Molter and Drumheller, you speak of the best," said Arcaro. "Swaps, you see, has shown those famous trainers something to make them believe that."

"But Nashua gets out of the gate in a hurry, too."

"Nashua rolls out of it," cut in Ted Atkinson, who brought the strapping Belair Stud colt from behind to nip Summer Tan in the never-to-be-forgotten Wood Memorial at Jamaica.

"Both Nashua and Swaps have improved since the Kentucky Derby," continued Arcaro. "We've just got to hope that Nashua has improved the most."

"There is no strategy in a match race."

"You can't let the other horse steal a big lead."

"But I'm not going to whip Nashua in an effort to have him keep pace with Swaps in the early going. I'll give him a mile in which to pick up Swaps."

NASHUA HAS GIVEN every indication that he can run all day.

"In the Belmont Stakes, he demonstrated that he can run a mile-and-a-half with no trouble at all," recalled Arcaro.

"We know Nashua is a mighty good horse," he said, thoughtfully. "He's proved that, but once in a while a super horse comes along. Off his performances and times, Swaps could be one of them."

"Let's put it this way. It will take a super horse to beat Nashua at Washington Park."

Until the Belmont Stakes, Arcaro could not get the playful Nashua to run away from the horse he had beaten. The son of Nasrullah had the will to win, all right, but be-

Stonefort Reunion Opens With Three Baseball Games

Three baseball games were played at the Stonefort reunion Wednesday and there are games listed for each day the remainder of the reunion, which closes Saturday night.

The best game of the day saw the Minor All-Stars take a close 5-3 decision from Legion Post 400. The game was tied at 2-2 in the fourth, but the Stars cracked through for three runs in the sixth to ice the victory.

VanHoy and Cole of the Stars and Sagle of Post 400 each had two hits.

The Major All-Stars, behind the two-hit hurling of Thomas, gained a 7-0 shut-out over Post 400 and in the "has-beens" game the old timers from Carrier Mills walloped Stonefort old timers, 15-0.

Gulledge of Carrier Mills paced the hitters with four safe blows in as many tries.

The baseball program is being furnished by the old timers and all star teams from the Carrier Mills summer program meeting. The champions of the three leagues—major, minor and midget. The team sponsored by American Legion Post 400 of Stonefort copped the championship of each league.

Baker Decisions Layne Third Time

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (UPI)—Big Bob Baker of Pittsburgh retained his No. 2 ranking among heavyweight title contenders today after scoring a split decision over pugilist Rex Layne.

Wednesday night's victory was Baker's third over Layne and just about eliminated any serious title hope for the Salt Lake City boxer.

There were no knockdowns in the battle although Layne slipped to the canvas once. Despite the barrage of blows thrown by both fighters, neither boxer was in serious trouble at any one time. Layne weighed 202 1-2 pounds, while Baker tipped the scales at 207.

Pro Cage Star Pettit Signs With St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Bob Pettit, the National Basketball Association's "Rookie of the Year" in the 1954-55 season, has signed a two-year pact with the St. Louis Hawks. He had been offered a five-year contract.

Our Boys in Europe to Hear Davis Cup Play

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Armed Forces Radio Service will beam live broadcasts of the final two days of Davis Cup challenge play from Forest Hills, N. Y., to American servicemen stationed in Europe. The matches start on Friday, but only the Saturday and Sunday action will be transmitted.

Nashua Leaves Tonight For Race with Swaps

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (UPI)—Nashua, the East's top candidate for 3-year-old honors, leaves for race tonight for Chicago where he will take on Swaps, the West's top sophomore, in a match race at Washington Park Wednesday.

fore the Wood in late April, Arcaro doubted that he would ever beat any horse by a wide margin. He'd put out just enough to score, had too much fun running alongside the other fellow.

As though he had learned a lesson in the Kentucky Derby, and when Saratoga made a late run at him in The Preakness, Nashua ran away and hid for the first time in the Belmont Stakes. Then, when Saratoga tried to repeat his stunt in The Dwyer, Nashua opened up several lengths.

IT HAS BEEN SAID that Nashua might have lost the Kentucky Derby to Swaps because Arcaro was first concerned about Summer Tan, which ran head and head with the William Woodward, Jr., meal ticket as a two-year-old and lost to him only by a whisker in the Wood.

"That's ridiculous," explained Arcaro. "Nashua didn't have a thread of an excuse. I hope that every big race I ride in is as fairly run as was the Derby. I wasn't worried about Summer Tan at all. He was behind me. I had him in hand."

"Another horse was running with Swaps when he reached the far turn, and when Willie Shoemaker shook him off, I got Nashua to Swaps' neck."

"Swaps moved and he was gaining on me throughout the last eighth and won by a length and a half."

But the match is another afternoon and race.

Willie the Shoe remarked that Swaps seemed tired repelling Traffic Judge's late burst in the American Derby at a mile-and-three-sixteenths.

The match race is at a mile-and-a-quarter, and Swaps had better have four good legs under him when the real racing begins.

Drake Wins Easily Over Giovannelli; Vejar May Be Next

NEW YORK (UPI)—Middleweight Ray Drake, an easy winner in his first national TV fight, will have welterweight contender Chico Giovannelli as his next TV opponent on Oct. 14, at Syracuse, N. Y., if the match can be made.

Hansome Drake of Far Rockaway, N. Y., won a lopsided 10-round decision over middleweight Danny Giovannelli of Brooklyn Wednesday night in his first main event at Madison Square Garden. He was favored at 12-5.

Drake was dissatisfied with his showing, and so were some of the 2,000 customers. "I should have stopped him," said brawny Ray. "But I was rusty—hadn't fought since May. And I had to tie him up too much."

Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club named Vejar of Stamford, Conn., as Drake's next probable opponent.

Drake, weighing 156 1/2, to Giovannelli's 153 1/4, was too smart and too strong for Brooklyn Danny.

The ring officials favored Drake on rounds as follows: Referee Miller, 5-4; Judge Frank Forbes, 8-2 and Judge Joe Agnello, 7-3. The United Press had it 8-2.

Beats Partner to Death in Golf Match Hassle

WHEATON, Ill. (UPI)—A 59-year-old man was charged today with beating his 57-year-old golfing partner to death on a country club links, after they got into an argument.

Murder charges were filed against Charles Fisher of Gary, Ind., after Leo A. Perry, Joliet, Ill., died in a St. Charles, Ill., hospital early today.

That's the opinion of Harry Wills, the erstwhile "Black Panther" of another era. And while he should know, having boxed Langford a total of 22 times, he voices the thought rather reluctantly.

"Just don't want to hurt anybody's feelings," he explains.

Langford "Greatest Hitter"

Yet, with prodding, Wills holds forth firmly that there were a merciless half-dozen in his day who would have made mincemeat out of the current crop of whales. These he ticks off rapidly by naming such as Langford, Jack Dempsey, Sam McVey, Joe Jeannette, Jim Flynn and Frank Moran and ignoring the fact that he more than held his own in this group.

"When they hit you they like'd to kill you," recalls Wills, still an erect and robust 6-foot-2 despite his 63 years. "And the greatest hitter of them all, bar none, was Langford."

Wills, who owns several apartment buildings and "keeps in shape running up and down the stairs trying to get the rents," vividly remembers the Langford fire-power.

"I fought that tar baby in Los Angeles in 1914 and I had him down nine times for a count of nine in the first four rounds," he muses. "I thought I had him, but in the 14th round he hit me, one punch. When I woke up the crowd was gone."

Training Rules Slacken

Ageless Harry isn't one of those old-timers who sneeringly insist that the youngsters of today aren't the men their fathers were.

"We have a lot of good heavyweights around," he asserts. "The difficulty is that they aren't taught to box properly—or to train properly. They're not in condition and when they're hurt they can't recuperate. They fight once and quit work for months. We used to have a 20-round fight and do roadwork the next day. They simply don't fight well, or often enough."

Wills' record bears this out. Often he boxed twice in one week and it wasn't unusual for him to fight four times a month. It was only after 17 years in the ring that he called it quits.

"That Father Time, he's the real champion of the world," Harry grins. "When he lays his glove on you, you're through. But come to think of it, that Langford was exactly the same way. Marciano and Moore can be glad he's not around today."

Tribes along Africa's Lake Kyoga just north of the Equator eat fat roasted locusts. They also press dried gnats into cakes. Termites are another favorite food.

ACE—Tommy Byrne pumps, loads up, fires and follows through. The 35-year-old left-hander staged a brilliant comeback to carry the Yankees while their pitching staff was at its shakiest. He returned from Seattle with control, a slider and throwing at different speeds. He not only opens the more important series, but has relieved and been employed as a pinch-hitter.

East Preppers Beat West in All-Star Tilt

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Quarterback Bobby Jackson, a sharp-shooting passer and breakaway runner, led the East to a 20-14 win Wednesday night in the All-American high school football game.

Jackson, of Mobile, Ala., had plenty of help from halfback Bobby Craven, of Owensboro, Ky. Craven scored one touchdown on a pass from Jackson and made consistent gains all night.

To Draft Plans for Atomic Library Building

James Dodd, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Leo Dodd of Eldorado, has received an important advancement with the firm with which he is employed.

Dodd, 29 years of age, has been with Babcock and Wilcox, manufacturers of boilers and like equipment, as director of their atomic library in Idaho Falls, Idaho.

He is being moved to Akron, Ohio, to draft general plans for a new atomic library building, equip, hire the staff and direct its operations.

Dodd has his bachelor's and master's degrees from Southern Illinois University and a master's degree in library science from the University of Illinois.

Administration Not Content with Farm Picture Says Benson

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (UPI)—Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson admitted today there are "weak spots" in the nation's farm economy and said the Eisenhower administration is "not content" with the farm price and income picture. Benson said farmers "are not sharing as fully as I would like" in the current "unprecedented" prosperity, but added "I am convinced there are better days ahead."

"There are weak spots in our agricultural economy but fundamentally it is sound and healthy," Benson said.

"There will be bumps along the road ahead just as there have been in the past," he said. "But there will be smooth stretches, too."

Benson, in a speech prepared for delivery at 1:30 p.m. at the Bloomington Pantagraph's Farm and Soil Day, said the nation has been undergoing a transition "from a war economy to one more closely geared to normal markets and conditions."

Such a transition, he said, "is never easy for agriculture," yet there have been "less serious dislocations than ever before in our history as a nation."

"And I am certain that farmers

infinitely prefer such adjustments

as must be made to the alternative

of continuing bloodshed," he said.

Surplus Food Distributed

Further plans were made to remove debris, health and safety hazards and restore public facilities in the six state flood area.

The Agriculture Department opened surplus food stores in the stricken states for use as needed by flood victims.

Trailer homes, prefabricated houses, factory space and other shelters were offered to the 100,000 homeless.

Millions of dollars, from the government, the Red Cross, companies, unions and thousands of individuals poured into the flooded states.

Residents of the flood area themselves contributed the greatest effort to the rehabilitation.

The International Ladies' Garment Workers union (CIO) appropriated $100,000 for flood victims. AFL President George Meany contributed $1,000 and urged affiliated unions to add to this amount.

More than 65 entertainers and sports figures, including Eddie Fisher, Paul White, Lauritz Melchior, Sherry Britton, Archie Bleyer and Rocky Marciano, rushed to West Hartford, Conn., Wednesday night for an all night TV appearance to appeal for aid for flood victims.

President Eisenhower's appeal Wednesday for "spontaneous" contributions to flood relief brought widespread and immediate results.

The New York chapter of the Red Cross alone reported 5,000 contributions totaling more than $200,000.

CIO President Walter Reuther pledged $100,000 from the United Auto Workers union. The United Steel Workers (CIO) contributed $25,000. The CIO Textile Workers union prepared to send a "substantial sum" for relief and rehabilitation.

The death toll in an eight-state area hit by the floods was 203. Scores were still missing but no trace of their bodies had been found after days of searching through silt and debris.

The state-by-state death toll included: Pennsylvania 115, Connecticut 50, Massachusetts 23, New Jersey 6, New York 4, Virginia 2, Rhode Island 2, and Delaware 1. Damage was estimated at 3 billion dollars.

Suffering from Flood Eases; Cash Pours In

Most Communications And Roads Open, Hungry Being Fed

By United Press

Suffering eased in the flood stricken northeast today under one of the most effective rehabilitation programs ever undertaken in the United States.

The hungry were being fed, the homeless were given temporary family shelters, communications functioned almost normally, most roads were cleared and open to traffic, and industries began digging out debris and drying out equipment in preparation to resume operations.

The U. S. Army Engineers, charged with handling a 100 million dollar government relief program, gave notice that rehabilitation was already well in progress.

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker announced in Washington that "all relief requests to the Army have been or are being met."

And I am certain that farmers

infinitely prefer such adjustments

as must be made to the alternative

of continuing bloodshed," he said.

Why Yanks Protect Reds

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Altogether more than 60 American soldiers have been hurt in South Korean rioting against the presence of the Communist members of the neutral armistice commission on South Korean soil.

A question that must be plaguing many Americans at home is this: Why are our soldiers bearing the brunt of these assaults? Does not the United Nations Command in Korea still contain some forces of other non-Asian nations?

The answer to the second question is that it does indeed. Such countries as Canada, Britain, Australia, New Zealand, Thailand, Turkey and Greece continue to maintain armed units in Korea, though like our own they were sharply reduced after the truce was signed in July, 1953.

These troops, however, are strictly combat units occupying stretches of the demarcation line between North and South Korea. They are given no other duty. U.S. elements also serve at the truce line, in substantial numbers, but they have other functions as well.

From the first establishment of the U. N. Command, American forces have been responsible for supply and support operations in Korea. This means they have been in control of ports and key rail points.

And, of course, it is at the ports that a vital part of the armistice commission's inspection work is done. There they are supposed to be in position to observe signs of an illegal military build-up. There, too, they fall under the protection of U. S. forces.

In addition, it must be remembered that the U. N. Command is officially an American-managed affair, so designated by the United Nations itself. The U. N. generally is brought into the picture only when the U. N. Command makes requests or reports to the parent agency.

The Red members of the armistice commission very likely are spies, as the Koreans charge. But until we are prepared to urge the dissolving of this commission, the U. N. Command must under the true terms afford all its members reasonable protection.

The command situation, plus American control of the ports, explains why the U. S. is put in the unhappy position of seeming to defend treacherous Communists. And since the South Koreans understand thoroughly what the setup is, it also explains why they focus their wrath on American soldiers instead of other U. N. elements.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:

Apologies To Senator Ellender For Under-Estimating His Work For Domestic Sugar Interests; Ellender Took Cane And Beet Lobbyists Into Secret Session; Senator Bingham Of Connecticut Was Censured For Similar Conduct.

WASHINGTON — On Aug. 17, this column published an account of the manner in which Senator Allen Ellender of Louisiana had endeavored to push a sugar bill through Congress revising import quotas on future sugar consumption.

The column stated that although the sugar quota bill had a full year to run, Senator Ellender was vigorous in his demand that a new sugar bill be passed. Simultaneously he purchased from the South Down Sugar company four acres of choice land for $2,500 an acre, a price at which others in the town of Houma could not buy.

The sugar company was willing to sell to its friend Senator Ellender, but not to them. The sugar company's president was among those testifying before Senator Ellender for his sugar bill.

It was suggested in this column that this purchase of choice land from a company that was pushing a change in sugar quotas before Senator Ellender's committee might be the same kind of conflict of interest which caused Harold Talbott's exit from the cabinet.

New facts have now come to light which make it necessary to apologize to Senator Ellender.

APOLOGY TO ELLENDER

I have now learned that the senator from Louisiana did some surprising things to push the sugar bill. First he threatened Congressman Harold Cooley, Democrat of North Carolina, chairman of the House Agriculture committee, that if he Cooley did not pass the sugar quota bill, then he, Ellender, would not pass the price support bill to increase parity.

In other words, Ellender was pushing a bill which helped one type of farmer, though it chiefly helped the cane and beet sugar companies. He wasn't interested in the Cooley bill which helped practically all farmers by giving them higher price supports.

On top of this, Senator Ellender took two lobbyists for the beet and cane sugar industry into an executive secret session of the Senate Finance committee which was considering the sugar bill. He did this on the last day of Congress when the fate of the sugar bill hung in the balance.

Executive sessions of a Senate committee are attended strictly by senators of their own executive assistants. The public, the press, and representatives of private companies are barred.

This rule is almost never broken.

The last time it was broken, the senator who broke it, Hiram Bingham, Republican of Connecticut, was officially censured by the Senate.

Despite these conditions and the further fact that he kept his stock in ESSO, White was promoted to brigadier general and got the job.

In fact, Bingham is the only other senator, besides Joe McCarthy, in the last quarter century to be censured. What he did was to take a representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association, Charles L. Elyson, into an executive session of the Senate Finance committee when it was considering the Smoot-Hawley Tariff act.

OTHERS BARRED

What Ellender did was exactly the same thing, except that he took two lobbyists into the secret session instead of one. They were Robert Shields, of the American sugar beet industry policy committee, and Josiah Ferris, of the American Sugar Cane League.

Representatives of the Cuban sugar industry, the Mexican and Peruvian sugar industry also wanted to appear before the Senate Finance committee. They are good neighbors of the United States and have a great deal at stake when it comes to sugar. The life-blood of Cuba depends on sugar.

However, Senator Ellender barred them and admitted only the two lobbyists for whom he introduced the sugar bill.

Therefore, apologies are in order to Senator Ellender for my serious underestimate of what he did for the cane and beet sugar lobbyists at a time when he was buying a choice bit of land at a low price from one of the cane sugar companies.

AIR FORCE CONFLICT OF INTEREST

Here's another illustration of conflict of interest, this time in the same outfit that Harold Talbott was kicked out of—the Air Force. It indicates how blase and callous some people in Washington have become in regard to a law which was put on the statute books for the very good reason of keeping corporate profit out of government service.

A year and a half ago, February 26, 1954, I called attention to the fact that the Air Force has hired W. W. White, vice president of ESSO, to negotiate oil and gas purchases, though he did not give up his holdings in ESSO and though some of his purchases must necessarily involve his old firm.

In July of this year, the House Armed Services committee finally got round to investigating this and denounced White's conflict of interest.

However, here are some additional facts I have since learned which make the hiring of W. W. White by the Air Force less understandable and more inexcusable.

The White appointment was not made by regular Air Force officers, but was dictated from up above. Air Force officers had picked a career officer, fully experienced in petroleum matters, Colonel Roger W. Moore.

Moore is a West Pointer, class of '31, a member of the petroleum team of the joint logistic plans group. He was fully qualified to handle Air Force purchases of petroleum and he had no ties with a big corporation to divide his loyalty between the armed services and a private company.

W. W. White, on the other hand, had graduated from West Point in 1924, but after getting a free education at Uncle Sam's expense, re-

IT HAPPENED IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS:

Quaint Church, of Walnut Logs, At Cahokia Built in 1799

By JOHN W. ALLEN
Southern Illinois University

The names of three French settlements remain prominent in the early history of southern Illinois. These are Kaskaskia, the Fort de Chartres-Prairie du Rocher settlement, and the village of Cahokia.

Kaskaskia, once the metropolis of the Mississippi Valley, completely vanished into that river many decades ago. A few ruins are left to mark the site of the one-time magnificent Fort de Chartres. To the observant person, nearby Prairie du Rocher yields glimpses of the time when it was a center of French culture in America. Cahokia, completing the trio, still has its cherished reminders of the past.

A place of particular interest and one that well serves to link the present with earlier days, is the quaint church of walnut logs.

In addition to the curiosity that its appearance naturally arouses, the inquiring person will shortly find that a long and interesting story centers about the old building. The age of the structure alone makes it interesting to many. The present building erected and dedicated in 1799, an even century after Father Cosme had set up the mission post that preceded it, is among the very oldest, if not the oldest church building in the Mississippi Valley.

This log church does not follow the usual pattern of such buildings.

Instead of the logs being laid horizontally, practically the universal custom except among the French, they are arranged vertically.

The ends of these vertical logs are mortised into other hewed logs lying along the bottom and top of the wall. All logs are hewed both outside and inside to make them smooth.

The edges of the logs have wide grooves about two inches deep in order to retain the mortar and stones used to chink and daub the openings between them. The corners of the building are sturdily braced. All of the logs of the wall are leaned inward about eight inches. The building has a restrained and rugged appearance.

The floor slopes gently, about six inches, from the door-way to the altar. There is no ceiling. The graceful and well proportioned trusses that support the roof are of hemmed timber. Bronze plaques and printed legends highlight some of the church's history. Emblems used in the worship service of this church and in the earlier church and mission that preceded it are distributed about the room. The old pews are gone as are the old foot warmers. Candles flicker at the altar.

In the dim light and quietness it is not difficult to conjure up scenes of the earlier years. Scenes peopled with a varied group that included stolid blanketed Indians, French settlers with their kapots and blue handkerchiefs, Indian traders, courier dubois, explorers, the local French gentry and robed priest of various orders ministering to the local citizens and Indian tribes of the area.

In the 256 years since the establishment of the mission that is now the Parish of the Holy Family, this old church and its predecessor at about the same spot, have seen a motley crowd pass in a varied procession.

The early burying ground with only a few markers remaining lies behind the church. An appropriate memorial stands near the center of this spot. A bronze plaque on the memorial says, "Ancient burial grounds of the Holy Family church of Cahokia. Here were interred from the earliest days of the settlement to about 1840 the departed of this parish and here they lie in peace." In 1839 a new burial ground was selected. This is the oldest marked burial ground for white people in Illinois.

At one time some 2000 Indians lived in the vicinity of the mission. Groups were often encamped on the plot of open ground in front of the church. It was also on this same plot that George Rogers Clark conferred with various Indian tribes in an effort to have them become friends and allies of the American colonists.

On the open plot of ground in front of the church, services were held on May 14, 1949 to commemorate the founding of the Mission.

just 250 years before that date, Mass was celebrated by Cardinal Stritch of Chicago.

Only on special occasions are services conducted in the old log church. From the stone steps in front of the present church and its predecessor, proclamations, announcements, edits, and sales were made, and public discussions were held in accordance with French practices.

A few years ago, about 1950, a thorough restoration of the old building was made. The siding that covered the logs for some 50 years was removed. Needed repairs were made. The wood was thoroughly treated to ward off decay as much as possible. In fact, everything known was done to have the building stand for another century and a half or more.

This old church may be considered as a kind of national memorial. The roster of devout men who have served it is a long one. Those who should receive the most credit for its restoration are: Father Joseph Mueller, Parish Priest; Father Joseph Deslige of St. Louis; Guy Stady, Architect; and the Most Reverend Albert R. Zuroweste, Bishop of Belleville.

Anyone interested in the early history of southern Illinois can well afford to pause as he drives on Route 3, a few miles south of East St. Louis and visit this historic church.

Apples Kept Fresh By New Process

MADISON, Wis. (UPI)—A University of Wisconsin horticulturist, Malcolm Dana, has developed a method for storing some apple varieties so that after a year they look fresh from the orchard.

The ends of the logs have wide grooves about two inches deep in order to retain the mortar and stones used to chink and daub the openings between them. The corners of the building are sturdily braced. All of the logs of the wall are leaned inward about eight inches. The building has a restrained and rugged appearance.
